“I have been passionate about oncology for as long as I can remember. The ESMO Medical Student Course in Valencia relighted my passion in this field. Meeting fellow students from over 30 countries, who share the same enthusiasm and dedication, made me more motivated than ever, and the comprehensive lectures delivered by top oncology specialists were more educational than any university course I had attended. I would highly recommend the ESMO Medical Student Course to anyone, who is considering a career in oncology or simply looking for an inspiring educational and human experience.”

“I would wholeheartedly recommend the course to every medical student who has even a slight interest in medical oncology or cancer. It was truly a lifetime opportunity. The course really opened my eyes to the different opportunities in the medical oncology field, and I made many great friends throughout the course.”
